

MADE REDUCTION IN GAS PRICES FOR JANESVILLE

PRACTICALLY DOLLAR GAS GIVEN BY NEW GAS LIGHT COMPANY.
SWEEPING CHANGE IN RATES

Local Concern Voluntarily Alters Its Schedule—Goes Into Effect at Once—Means Much to Consumer.

Madison, Wis., July 1.—The Madison gas consumers have been practically a dollar gas for some time, but the change in the schedule of prices comes voluntarily and the reduction is so sweeping that every house old style gas for lighting, cooking, or heating will be immediately affected.

Madison, with its hundred and twenty million feet output each year, only secured a reduction of eight per cent from its local company after two years of hard fighting, expensive in the extreme, while Janesville consumers have the benefit of about fifteen to seventeen and eight tenths per cent reduction given voluntarily. Janesville puts out but forty-nine million feet of gas per year. Madison uses one hundred and twenty million with a larger population. It took the Madison consumers two years to get their gas bills reduced while at one fell stroke the local company grants the reduction of its own free will.

The Janesville gas plant is one of the most modern and up to date plants in the state. Competent engineers have examined it and have stated and the quality of its output is far above the average.

Under the old schedule less than 2000 cubic feet cost $1.50. From 2000 to 4000 cubic feet the price was $1.40 and 4000 cubic feet and over was $1.20 per thousand. Compare these figures with the new ones which go into effect at once.

5000 cubic feet is now $1.30. The next 5000 cubic feet is at $1.15 and all in excess of 5000 cubic feet $1.00. On the first two thousand cubic feet there is a reduction of two cents each thousand cubic feet and a reduction of one cent on the third thousand cubic feet.

Just what it means to the city can not be overestimated. In the first place it will reduce the cost of living. It will make it possible for gas to be used for more purposes than formerly at the same expense as of old and it will be the cause of attracting new residents to the city by the actual lessening of living expenses.

ACTUAL WORK NOW ENDED IN CAMPS OF THE FIGHTERS

Jeffries and Johnson Both End Their strenuous Training This Afternoon.

Renov, Nev., July 1.—The grueling training seems to be at an end in the camps of both Jeffries and Johnson. Both declare they have done the last bit of strenuous work.

To his friends Jeffries said: "I am going right after my opponent. I intend to take great punishment and win big quickly. But I will inflict no punishment in return."

In the Jeffries camp however, there is said to be a serious clash over his training. His failure to do much boxing has aroused a protest from Jim McKittrick, who says he is in the best of condition, and that the boxer part of the fight will take care of itself. Johnson is pleased at the decision of the negro churches of America to pray for his victory. He says "I pray for victory himself before he goes into a fight and says he is for the nation of his life."

HUB WELCOMES TEACHERS' ARMY

NAT'L. EDUCATIONAL ASSOCIATION MEETS TOMORROW

35,000 VISITORS EXPECTED

President Taft, David Starr Jordan, And Others Will Be Speakers At The Opening Session.

Boston, July 1.—The National Educational Association, the first department of which will begin its annual meeting in Boston tomorrow morning, to be followed next week by the general sessions of all departments, is the largest educational body in the world. The claim is also made that it is the most influential body, not only because it is the largest body, but also because it is differentiated into so many specialties. There are in the association more than a dozen departments, each independent in itself, yet forming a part of the whole. At the coming meetings of these several departments all phases of kindergarten, elementary, secondary, music, manual training and business education will be discussed.

Teachers from all sections of the United States are flocking to the city to attend the convention. Every incoming train adds to the vast army of educators and it is expected that by tomorrow morning over 15,000 visitors will be registered at the convention headquarters in Chopley Square. This number will probably be doubled when the real business of the convention begins next Monday. When the association met in Boston seven years ago the attendance reached 35,000. Judging from the advance registration this record will be surpassed this year. The arrangements for the reception and entertainment of the visitors are of the most perfect and elaborate character. Every incoming train is met outside the city by representatives of the general reception committee, who look after the baggage of the arrivals, furnish them with all necessary information and assist them to quarters. The railroad stations and the vicinity of Copley Square, which will be the center of the convention activities, are decked out in bunting and signs bidding the N. E. A. welcome are displayed everywhere.

The convention will be ushered in with the meeting of the National Council of Education, which will begin its sessions tomorrow morning. The chief features of the program for the council meeting will be the report of the committee on education of children by James H. Van Sickle of Baltimore, the report of the committee on industrial education, the report of the committee on moral education in public schools by James M. Greenwood of Kansas City, an address on "Vocational and Industrial Schools" by Frederick P. Fish of the Massachusetts State Board of Education, and an address by Elmer B. Brown, United States Commissioner of Education, on "Co-operation with Educational Organizations in other countries."

The first general session of the convention will be held in the Harvard Stadium on Monday afternoon, when addresses will be delivered by President William H. Taft and Hon. Charles B. Aycock of Raleigh, N. C. Another speaker at the opening session will be President David Starr Jordan of Leland Stanford, Jr., University.

The annual presidential report and speech is scheduled for the second session, to be held Tuesday evening. It will be delivered by James V. Fowler, president of the National Educational Association, and Superintendent James M. Greenwood of Kansas City will offer a memorial address on Dr. William T. Harris.

On Wednesday evening, President Lowell of Harvard University will read the list of speakers with an address on the "Effect of Electives Chosen in College." He will be followed by Dean H. L. Russell of the Wisconsin college of agriculture, who will speak on the "Value of Demonstrative Methods in Agricultural Education."

At the general session of Thursday evening Luther H. Gulick of the Russell Sage Foundation will speak on "Public Health Education," and P. P. Clifton of the University of Tennessee will be heard on "Universal Education and International Peace." The last general session will come Friday night, when an appropriate valedictory, the committee has secured Dr. Charles W. Eliot, former president of Harvard, who will speak on "The Value of Education, of a Life-Career Motive." Another speaker at the concluding session will be Mrs. W. N. Hitt of Raleigh, N. C., who has chosen for the subject, "Education of Women for Home-Making."

President James H. Baber of the University of Colorado, Edward A. Hamely of Laporte, Ind., Dr. Charles H. Brown of Worcester, President W. H. P. Francis of Brown University, David E. Woodworth of Detroit, President James W. Croft of the Nebraska State Normal School, and many other men and women of prominence in the educational world will be heard at the sessions of the various departments.

The program for the whole convention also provides for meetings of the National Education Association, the American Economic League, the American Home Economics Association, and the Federation of State Teachers.

Don't Prescribe.

We should be chary of prescribing remedies upon the sick other than those which their doctors have already prescribed. It is never a safe thing to tamper with drugs, and though certain medicines may be curative for ourselves and certain treatments prove our salvation they may be hurtful to others. Cases have been known of persons becoming seriously ill through taking a medicine prescribed for them by other invalids in whose case the remedy was a suitable one.

MAYOR REFUSES EIGHT LICENSES

COUNCIL GRANTS 81 SALOON PERMITS BUT ONLY 43 ARE SIGNED.

DRUGGISTS GET PERMITS

Aldermen Also License Four Brewers But City Executive Approves of Only Three.

Fifty-one saloon keepers, eight druggists and four brewers applied to the council last night for licenses to retail liquor in this city, but for several reasons, mainly because Mayor Carlo refused to sign all the licenses, only forty-three saloonkeepers, three brewers and eight druggists are engaged in the business today.

Without a dissenting vote, the council, after the bonds of fifty saloonkeepers and four brewers had been examined and accepted, granted the licenses. According to law, however, the mayor's signature is necessary before the licenses are valid, and the mayor refused to sign the licenses of eight applicants, namely, Fred Han, 115 W. Milwaukee St., W. A. Knapp, 115 W. Milwaukee St., C. J. Flaherty, 115 W. Main St., John Helmer, 11 N. Main St., George Laxton, 54 N. Franklin St., Al Tenbert, 13 N. Academy St., Frank McShane, 504 W. Milwaukee St., and M. Dub Browning Co., 65 S. River St.

Philip Rous' application for a license was not acted on at the meeting last night for the reason that it was not accompanied by a check for $500.00 and his place of business at 9 N. River St. must remain closed until the next regular or special meeting of the council when he will have an opportunity to apply again.

Immediately after Mayor Carlo had signed the licenses of the forty-three saloonkeepers and three brewers of whom he approved, Chief of Police Ahlberg secured the names of those who had been turned down and notified them that they would not be allowed to open in the morning, in this way taking no chances on repeating the error made last year when Wm. Carroll ran for several days without a permit. Of those who did not receive licenses, five, Tenbert, Knapp, Flaherty, Helmer and Rous were engaged in the business last year; two, Han and McShane, were engaged in the business two years ago but were refused last year while Laxton and Dub have never carried on a saloon business in the places for which they wished licenses.

While it is possible that Mayor Carlo may refuse to attach his signature under any consideration to those licenses which he has already refused to sign, it is probable that he will sign several more after he has had an opportunity to see the saloonkeepers. In any case, the matter is not yet settled definitely as the council still has the power to grant a license over the mayor's veto if seven of the aldermen vote for it.

Should the council, by a two-thirds vote, grant every one of the fifty-one applications made last night, there will still be an opportunity for one more application to bring the number up to the maximum, or fifty-two. It is understood that this possible fifty-second application will be made by P. E. Williams to open a bar at 504 W. Milwaukee St., the place which Harry Olson originally intended to open but could not because he had not resided in this state long enough.

With reference to the druggists' permits, there was no discussion and the eight business men who were refused licenses last year, secured them this year without trouble. Following are the names of those who were granted licenses last night.

T. F. Siegel, 10 S. River; Thomas F. Abbott, 21 S. Main; William C. Engle, 102 N. First; E. W. Miller, 212 W. Milwaukee; Chas. Dickenson and Geo. Dougherty, 72 S. River; Phillip Ohlweiller, 219 W. Milwaukee; John Cassey, 405 W. Milwaukee; J. F. Sweeney, 325 W. Milwaukee; Phillip Sheridan, 523 W. Milwaukee; J. E. McGowan, 423 W. Milwaukee; Jas. W. Reed, 301 W. Milwaukee; Perry E. Clark, 120 E. Milwaukee; Paul Mohr, 109 N. First; W. E. Lawyer, 123 E. Milwaukee; James Boylan, 13 N. Franklin; J. E. Gokoy, 16 N. Academy; William Heller, 615 W. Milwaukee; Eugene Fornerbrook, 14 S. River; Patrick J. Rider, 220 W. Milwaukee; Thos. P. Moran, 205 W. Milwaukee; H. J. Thometz, 14 E. Milwaukee; Charles Herman and Charles Troff, 113 East Milwaukee; Bert Van Houten, and Maurice Dalton, 117 W. Milwaukee; R. F. Sawyer, 71 S. River; John C. Karberg, 15 N. Franklin; C. M. Munson, and B. Lommerhirt, 511 W. Milwaukee; Harry Van Gilder, 28 N. Main; A. Stenell, 104 E. Milwaukee; James Sheridan, 18 S. River; Jeanne F. Connors, 311 W. Milwaukee; Chas. H. Carpenter, 102 N. Academy; Geo. Underdahl and Geo. Hell, 105 E. Milwaukee; E. B. Connors, 298 W. Milwaukee; Thos. F. McKelgo, 107 E. Milwaukee; J. Bonning and J. Iversen, 102 W. Milwaukee; Tim McKelgo, 34 S. Main; Herman Duggan, 24 S. River; R. F. Finley, 22 S. River; Leo Koster, 51 S. River; A. J. Hannauka, 112 W. Milwaukee.

Breweries
Joseph Schlitz Brewing Co., 614 W. Main; Grand Brewing Co., 415 S. Franklin; Val Blatt, Brewing Co., 608 W. Main.

Druggists' Permits
J. P. Hebling, 225 W. Milwaukee; J. P. Baker, 102 W. Milwaukee; Geo. E. Freeland, 101 W. Milwaukee; W. F. McChes, 14 S. Main; Smith Drug Co., 14 W. Milwaukee; H. E. Ranous, 21 W. Milwaukee; W. T. Shorer, 201 W. Milwaukee.

Other Business.
Other relatively unimportant business transacted at the meeting last night was the adoption of a resolution authorizing the purchasing committee together with the aldermen of the second ward to buy the old office building, owned by the Rock River Machine Company for a willing buyer for the second ward at a cost not to exceed $75. This structure, which is about twenty feet square will be located on Prospect street on the south west corner of Main street.

Upon motion of Alderman Buchholz, Alderman Brown's motion that Harry C. Mosher, an expert accountant be engaged to audit the books of the city treasurer for the year ending June 30, was held over until the next regular meeting.

PERFUME PEDDLER RAN INTO SNAGS

When He Tried to Collect 25 Cents for Sample Bottles Left on the Doorsteps Yesterday.

P. H. Litzemberger of Harvard, temporarily incapacitated for work in a condensed milk factory, came here yesterday and peddled samples of perfume and sachet powder on Academy and South Jackson streets. The samples were accompanied by a doggerel stating that if householders wished to keep the articles they could pay him a quarter when he called today. When he started out to make collections this morning Mr. Litzemberger ran into a snag. Philip Koch reported him to the police. As he had no license—no financial ability to pay for one—Judge Phil permitted him to gather up his remaining samples and get out of the city. Litzemberger was very useful over the sharp practices of some of his prospective customers who emptied his sample bottles and filled them with colored water.

Developments Today.
Philip Rous (this morning filed his check for $500 but as the council took no action on his license he will not be able to sell any intoxicating beverages until the City Fathers meet again. It is understood that there was some misunderstanding regarding the Rous application; that it had been cleared up; and that the same will be granted without further delay. L. E. Williams this morning filed an application for a license to run a saloon at 504 West Milwaukee street, the stand for which Harry Olson of South Jackson street was necessary to withdraw his application. There was a misunderstanding, also, in John Helmer's case which is likely to be adjusted.

DeArmand, secretary of the Commercial and Industrial club of Janesville, arrived here this morning from his former home in Dayton, Ohio, and immediately started to exemplify the famous "Don Moline" spirit of "Doing Things." From now on in the work of placing Janesville in the work of placing Janesville in the center of the country will go forward with a rush.

Although Mr. DeArmand's active work starts today, he began his campaign to put Janesville on the map some time ago and the result of his efforts, in the shape of a great mass of correspondence from manufacturers desiring a change of location and requests from trade journals for descriptive matter concerning this city and its opportunities awaits him in the temporary offices of the secretary.

Mr. DeArmand is at present seeking a competent stenographer and assistant and as soon as one is secured and the offices arranged, will begin an aggressive advertising campaign.

A meeting between the secretary and the executive board of the Commercial and Industrial club has been arranged for this afternoon at which time the winner of the "Slogan Contest" will be chosen.

DORSEY'S TRIAL SET FOR JULY 7

Ex-Convict Waived Examination on License Charge in Municipal Court This Morning.

In municipal court this morning Albert Dorsey waived examination on the charge of stealing a pair of shoes from the Marshall factory, coupled with a second complaint for larceny alleged to have been committed on April 30, 1907, and his trial was set for July 7. If convicted, Albert will serve another term in the penitentiary where he has already been confined on three different occasions. He is twenty-eight years old.

MISS CORA STARK WEDDED THURSDAY

Tiffany Young Lady United in Marriage to Andrew Barclay Colville at Parents' Home.

Chilton, July 1.—The wedding of Miss Cora Stark and Mr. Andrew Barclay Colville was celebrated at the home of the bride's parents at Tiffany yesterday afternoon at one o'clock. The happy couple took the evening train for Chicago. The wedding trip will be an extensive one through the east.

Mrs. Henry W. Conley went to Chicago today to visit a sick relative. She expects to be gone one or two weeks.

Chas. Stark, Jr., of Shopleys, is calling on friends here today. He has accepted a position with the State Central Republican Campaign committee, having completed his six-year course at the state university. He expects to engage in the practice of law in the fall after the campaign is over.

Miss Anna Woolston of the state school for feeble-minded children at Chippewa Falls, is visiting her brother, Dr. A. S. Woolston. She attended the Stark-Colville wedding Wednesday afternoon at Shopleys.

Dr. W. O. Thomas was in Chicago yesterday and witnessed the drills of the soldiers, which he said were marvellous.

Williams Switzer of Detroit, Mich., will arrive Saturday night to visit his brother, J. R. Switzer, and family for a week.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Green and Mrs. Martha Chandler of Watworth, and Mrs. Libby Wickham of Seattle, Wash., visited Mr. and Mrs. Geo. C. Babcock on Wednesday.

Dr. J. R. Grandall remains very low with small hopes of his living out the day.

Mrs. Wm. Popen is expecting a visit next week from her sister, who lives in Milwaukee.

J. B. Smith celebrated his seventy-fifth birthday Wednesday.

When He Tried to Collect 25 Cents for Sample Bottles Left on the Doorsteps Yesterday.

P. H. Litzemberger of Harvard, temporarily incapacitated for work in a condensed milk factory, came here yesterday and peddled samples of perfume and sachet powder on Academy and South Jackson streets. The samples were accompanied by a doggerel stating that if householders wished to keep the articles they could pay him a quarter when he called today. When he started out to make collections this morning Mr. Litzemberger ran into a snag. Philip Koch reported him to the police. As he had no license—no financial ability to pay for one—Judge Phil permitted him to gather up his remaining samples and get out of the city. Litzemberger was very useful over the sharp practices of some of his prospective customers who emptied his sample bottles and filled them with colored water.

Developments Today.
Philip Rous (this morning filed his check for $500 but as the council took no action on his license he will not be able to sell any intoxicating beverages until the City Fathers meet again. It is understood that there was some misunderstanding regarding the Rous application; that it had been cleared up; and that the same will be granted without further delay. L. E. Williams this morning filed an application for a license to run a saloon at 504 West Milwaukee street, the stand for which Harry Olson of South Jackson street was necessary to withdraw his application. There was a misunderstanding, also, in John Helmer's case which is likely to be adjusted.

CHIEF OF POLICE TOOK CHARGE TODAY

Dispatch Telling of its Prohibition on Montreal Exchange Considered as Joke.

Chicago.—A Dispatch from Montreal telling of the posting of a by-law prohibiting members of the stock exchange there from chewing gum on the floor of the exchange set members of the corresponding Chicago body and of the Chicago board of trade to laughing in their sleeves. Each insisted also that the crumpling of the delectable article was freely permitted in Chicago and each was prone to believe the Montreal rule a "gentle kid."

"Quite evidently a 'kid,'" said a well-known broker. "I'm really too busy to talk about chewing gum, but I will say that the Montreal fellows are just having a little fun, in all probability. I never heard of such a rule before and can think of no reason why it should be laid down."

Another member declared that in his opinion the habit of gum chewing is infinitely preferable to that of tobacco chewing.

"I cannot see why it should in any way hinder a man's work," he said. "As for cleanliness, it's way ahead of the tobacco habit."

The chief stand man in the lobby of the board of trade building, who sells all sorts of gum, is responsible for the statement that practically all members of the Chicago board chew it occasionally.

"I've got a good stand here," he announced, "and I sell many packages of it. They all buy it and have their favorite flavors. You know, on certain occasions a particular brand is desirable. It has such an all-pervading odor and—ha, I see, you get me."

ART OF COOKING RICE.

How to Master It With Little Trouble and Careful Washing.

Cooking rice is a great art which is easily mastered by those who are willing to take the trouble. In the first place, do not get inexpensive rice. Even the best grade is not especially dear. Always ask for the very best quality, and you will find the grains are whole and there is no chaff, unlike the rice one gets in some lunch rooms, boarding houses and restaurants, which is soft and wet like mush and full of little pieces of debris. This cheaper quality is neither so nourishing nor so palatable.

Rice cannot be cooked properly unless it has been washed carefully. Put it in a coarse strainer, set the strainer in a basin of cold water, pick out all pieces of foreign matter and change the water again and again until it remains clear. Then the rice is ready to be cooked.

Take one and one-fourth cupsful of boiling water, one-half teaspoonful of salt and half a cupful of rice. Put it into boiling water and salt, in the upper half of a double boiler, and steam for about three-quarters of an hour; or until there is no grittiness left in the grains, which should be quite soft. Add a little water if the rice becomes too dry when cooking. When done pour into a colander and set on the back of the stove or in the oven for two or three minutes until all dampness is absorbed and each grain of rice winds out from its fellow.

The Compensation of Endeavor.

He whose mind is engaged by the acquisition or improvement of a fortune not only escapes the insipidity of indifference and the tediousness of inactivity, but gains enjoyment, wholly unknown to those who live lazily on the tolls of others.—Johnson.

OF DAYTON WEDDING

Description of Thomas-Lovejoy Nuptials Published in Daily News is Herewith Reproduced.
In the Dayton (Ohio) Daily News of Tuesday, June 28, is contained a detailed account of the Thomas-Lovejoy wedding of that date which will be read with interest by Janesville people. It is as follows:

"A very beautiful, barge wedding took place Tuesday morning at the residence of Mrs. John Thomas in Oakwood. Then her daughter, Miss Isabelle, and Thomas, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Allen Perry Lovejoy. The ceremony, which was simple and informal in its nature, was performed at 9 o'clock in the windowed alcove of the large reception hall. Rev. Maurice Wilson, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, reading the marriage service.

"The attendants were the sister and brother of the groom, Miss Julia Lovejoy and H. S. Lovejoy. Immediately preceding the marriage service, Miss Helen Kitzinger and Miss Anne Davis of Newark, O., sang, 'Oh, Perfect Love.'

"The bride, who entered with her mother, was attired in the same wedding gown which the latter had worn at her marriage, being fashioned with soft white tulle over satin and broad lace, and adorned with pearls and diamonds. She also wore her mother's wedding veil, and carried a bouquet of white and yellow roses.

"The maid of honor, Miss Lovejoy, wore a beautiful gown of yellow chiffon, and carried a bouquet of white and lavender corn flowers. Hildeberg's maidens furnished the music. The room was made most attractive with a wealth of daisies, ferns and palms.

"Following the ceremony, the relatives and intimate friends who had gathered to witness the ceremony were served a buffet wedding breakfast by Miss Shoup.

"The bride and groom left during the morning for a trip to the east, and on their return will reside in Janesville, Wis., the groom being a well-known young business man of that place. A large number of beautiful wedding gifts were received by the young people. Quite a large number of out-of-town guests came on for the wedding, among whom were Mrs. A. P. Lovejoy, mother of the groom, and his sister and brother, Miss Julia and H. S. Lovejoy of Janesville, Wis., the bride-elect's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harrington Davis of Newark, O., with their little daughter, Miss Linda Rogers Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Ford of Cleveland, Mr. and Mrs. William Lawrence of Kansas City, (Philip Goodell) and Henry Shelton of Mt. Clear, N. J., Henry Love of Chicago, John Brookmeyer of Kansas City, and Miss Anne Davis of Newark, O."

SCHOOL COMMISSIONERS TO BE CHOSEN AT THE MEETING

Three New Members of Brodhead School Board to be Selected at Annual Meeting Tuesday.
(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)

Brodhead, July 1.—The annual school meeting occurs next Tuesday, July 6th, at which time there will be elected three commissioners to succeed F. L. Searles and Dr. H. D. Kirkpatrick whose terms expire and Sidney J. Stab, who was appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Fred Tier.

Rev. Jensen's subject at the Presbyterian church next Sunday morning will be: "If a Man Dies, Does He Live Again?"

The Misses Pearl and Grace Atwood have returned from their visit to Burr Lake, Indiana, and report a most pleasant time.

The first division of the Ladies Aid at the M. E. church will serve this afternoon in Broughlon's annex. Members and their friends are cordially invited.

C. E. DeWitt has purchased a stock of jewelry in Stoughton and expects to spend a day or two each week in that city looking after it. He will continue his residence here and employ a jeweler at Stoughton.

Word has been received here of the marriage of Miss Edna Moore of Stoughton, Mass., to Mr. Otto L. Ray, a young jeweler of that city, the ceremony taking place on Thursday, June 28, 1910. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Moore, former residents of Brodhead and is accomplished and popular.

Earl Ewing of Burlington, has accepted a position in Richardson's Harbor shop.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. D. Richardson and little son returned Thursday from a visit to Stillshurg.

OLD AIDS TO THE HAT TRADE

Severe Laws Have Been Passed in England to Protect Various Makers of Headgear.

Hats have in England been subject to very severe protective enactments. The blocked beaver hat, for instance, imported by Sir Walter Raleigh from the low countries, won its way so rapidly that in 1571 Queen Elizabeth passed an act to protect the making of "thrummed" caps, made from wool for the advantage of the landed proprietors, whose sheep furnished the material. The statute provided that "every person, except ladies and Jews (why were Jews excused?) shall on Sundays and holidays wear on his head a cap of velvet wool made in England! Penalty 3s. 6p. per day." About a century later the law, for which there is nothing too high or too low, having taxed men's shoes, turned its attention once more to their hats, and soon put a check on all improvements in the trade by requiring every vendor of hats to take out a license under a heavy penalty. Subsequently a stamp duty was imposed on all hats, which were officially marked inside where the maker's name now appears. The penalty for selling a hat without a stamp was £10, and the penalty for forging a hat stamp was death! Whence no doubt the modern custom of the man who goes to a hat shop, sits down, looks into his hat and his maker's name.

The Riding Girl is Always a Bit Conventional.

Horseback riding is the hardest exercise there is and every detail of the costume is rigid, fast and well adjusted—even to the rider's hair, which is simply arranged and braided and tied with ribbon at the back. The which habit is permissible in summer time, and this has a slightly shorter coat than the long-skirted affair worn in town in the winter season. A soft linen or crash stock is worn at the neck; though this usually goes over a feathered foundation to insure trim daintiness throughout the center. The summer rider may wear a straw sailor, a continental, or one of the high crowned straw riding derbies, which are smart and comfortable on the head.

Tarantulas Effect Cures.

A letter from Old Mexico gives a description of a cure of a demented man. The wild man was running in the State of Durango when captured. The officials had no place to put him and no right to kill him, so ordered him tied to a tree in a spot noted for its great number of tarantulas. The next morning men were sent to bury the unfortunate man, but found him alive and in his rational mind, with hundreds of tarantulas lying dead at his feet.

Just Holding Gum in Trust.

A little seven-year-old Boston girl came into the house the other day chewing gum vigorously. Her mother was horrified and ordered the little one to throw the gum away. The usually obedient child shook her head firmly. "I can't throw it away," she said, "because it ain't mine. It belongs to Barbara, but she lent it to me till two o'clock."

"Croquet," which we have noted, was played by King Edward in 1832 and was a popular game in Ireland many years before this. When the subject was discussed some time ago Mr. Dixon, an ivory turner of Gracechurch street, London, came forward with the information that his firm had made a set of croquet implements for Ireland in 1837. And it was an Irish lady, Miss McNaughton, who introduced the game to Lord Lonsdale's lawn in the fifties. But no one has ever been able to settle whether croquet was brought over to Ireland by some of the Irish soldiers of fortune who fought for France, or whether it was an adaptation of the "paille-maille" from which that street of many clubs—Pall Mall—is said to have taken its name.—London Chronicle.

No Such Luck!

Filippo Tomasso became the father of twins. The nurse presented herself before him with both, whereupon he gave them a hurried glance and exclaimed: "O, I suppose you brought them so that I may take my choice."
—Il Motto per Ridere.

His Courtship Short!
A novel and speedy method of choosing a wife was adopted recently by a Seattle engineer, named George West. With matrimony in view, he went to Paris, Ont., and applied for a job with the Pomman Woolen company. West worked for half a day, devoting most of his attention to the thousand girls engaged at the factory. Along about noon he saw Miss Florence McMillan, one of the company's importation of girls from England, and decided she'd do. Having secured her address, he called upon her the next evening, and the following day Rev. Canon Brown performed the ceremony, which made them man and wife. West refunded to the company the $50 advanced for his bride's passage from England. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. West left for Seattle.

TAFT AND ROOSEVELT.
President Taft and Theodore Roosevelt have met and had the talk talked of at conference. The meeting took place at Burleigh Point where President Taft has his summer home, and while all reporters and photographers were not admitted to the grounds during the meeting, still enough is known to know that it was a most harmonious session, and that the former President, from whom so much has been expected by the insurgents, appeared in perfect harmony with his former war secretary, and an enjoyable afternoon was spent. So much for the expected battle royal that was predicted by the insurgent press of the country. Roosevelt is far too wise a politician to make any mistakes and that he is in hearty accord with the President is certain.

DEMOCRATS AND THE TARIFF.
Senator Samuel Douglas McHenry of Louisiana will be chiefly remembered for his support of the Dingley tariff bill. He had subscribed to the democratic platform; but in order to secure the protection of sugar, rice and other local products of Louisiana, he contended protection to other states and voted for the bill. His state approved of the attitude he adopted, and his explanatory remarks in New Orleans are as pertinent today as they were when they were made:
"The democratic senator from California voted for a high tariff on borax because California is a borax producing state. The democratic senator from Kentucky earnestly worked and led for wood alcohol, and the democratic senators from Florida, Georgia and South Carolina favored the protection of rice and lumber. Why did they aid and assist in making the bill protective and then vote against it? The interests they advocated would have been lost by the defeat of the bill. I voted for the interests of Louisiana. I secured the protection we desired, and I did not intend to lose it by taking chances of the defeat of the bill. Nor was I willing to ask for Louisiana what I would not want to other states."
There is courage in this, and honesty also, if not of a very exalted kind. Compared with the United States senators who ostentatiously voted against the bill, having secured protection for their local interests on borax, wood alcohol, rice, lumber and numerous other things, well knowing that the bill must pass in any case, Senator McHenry was a model of political honor. Like the democratic senator he mentioned, he threw his vote of tariff for protection only to the winds, but he at least he did not cant about it.

There is a good deal to be said for General Hancock's statement that the tariff was a local issue. It is local treatment only which makes it possible. The principle of protection is forgotten. In the enormous political and cash advantages which can be acquired by the favoring of powerful interests, able to reciprocate in times of political stress, the chief obstacle to a tariff which shall be for the benefit of all the people of the United States. The same was localized in 1897, and again in 1909, when each United States senator swapped unfair advantages in other states for unfair advantages in his own.
There is another kind of honesty, and to this Senator McHenry never attained, admirable as he was in his personal and private relations. This is the honesty of the representative who can tell his district that he will be no party to securing an advantage for them which can only be obtained by inflicting a wrong upon the country as a whole. If Senator McHenry could have told the people of Louisiana that in order to secure sound fiscal legislation he found it necessary to place his country before every other consideration, he would have history a greater name down to hand. He probably would not long have continued senator from Louisiana.
Senator Edmunds of Vermont was not afraid to tell his constituents that he was a senator of the United States, from the state of Vermont. He is dead, but it is to be hoped that his spirit still lives. It was never so greatly needed.

On Monday next a fortune is to be decided by the old, old method of muscular development. A white and a black man are to fight for the world's championship and it would not be peculiar if this was the last big fight for a decade or so, from the sentiment that has been expressed as opposed to such methods of proving prowess.

It would appear as though that state fair board was going to build its stables whether anyone liked it or not. The man who control the destinies of this organization are no respecters for anyone's wishes but their own. The small minority, of which the Janesville member is a member, have hard work to keep the board inside the limits of the law many times.

Fairchild and his loyalty to Taft slogan have swept the state from one end to the other. It means a great deal to the future of the state who is nominated for governor, and it is hoped that all who are really interested in the support of the national republican politics will look into the affiliations of the candidates before making a blind choice.

Roosevelt and Taft have met and it was "Mr. President" and "Theodore," and it was used to be called "President" and "William" less than eighteen months ago. The editorial writers who expected a big demonstration were disappointed as the two men seem to be working in hearty accord with each other.

How does this sound to you for a strong Rock county delegation in the next state legislature. Whittier in the first district, Fisher in the second, and Gault in the third. There are three men that any county might feel proud to have represent them in Madison next winter.

This craze for long distance air races has hit both America and Europe at once and princely prizes are being offered for competitive races in the air. A man risks his life perhaps, but think of the fifty thousand dollars he will gain if he wins! Many a man risks his soul for far less.

The council has passed all of the saloon licenses requested but Mayor Carlo has refused to sign some of them until he makes further investigation and perhaps he will even then turn down some of the requests to dispense liquor in Janesville during the coming year.

The real campaign for the gubernatorial candidates begins during the coming month, particularly on July Fourth, when the spellbinders of both sides of the tangled republican state contests will begin to tighten their lines with fiery and patriotic Fourth of July celebrations.

M. J. Cleary, one of the republican candidates for insurance commissioner, visited Janesville yesterday. Mr. Cleary is a young man of exceptional ability and has a host of friends throughout the state who are most anxious to see him succeed in his coming campaign.

There is a talk that State Senator Hudnall may make the run for congress in his district. If he does and succeeds Wisconsin may feel proud of its representative in the halls of congress next year.

With a show, baseball and light returns all in one day, Janesville residents do not have to leave town on Monday next to be amused.

THE POET PHILOSOPHER
By WALT MASON.
(Copyright, 1909, by George Matthews Adams.)

The nation's sliding down the path that leads to ruin's lair, and all of it's dogs of wrath will chew its vitals thro'; each day we deeper plunge in grief; the nation's will soon have reached the worst; why don't we turn, then, for relief, to William Randolph Hearst? It seems we haven't any sense, that we these ill endure; he's told us oft, in confidence, that no man is better than the hawk of our hope—our last shield and our first; then let's rely upon the hope of William Randolph Hearst. He offers us the helping hand, he fashions our guide, and still we wreck this blooming land, and let all virtue slide; of all that is the country's best we're making whereabout; O let us lean upon the breast of William Randolph Hearst! He stands and waits, serene, sublime, he beckons and he sings! He wears a halo all the time, and he is growing wings! So let us quit the course that hurls, forsake the things accursed, and root, like children, in the arms of William Randolph Hearst!

AGED ARE IMMUNE
Appendicitis Does Not Affect Those Over 50 Years Old.
Trouble Then Is Usually of an Entirely Different Nature—Considerable Difficulty Encountered in Diagnosing.
New York.—Physicians throughout the city are exceedingly interested in Dr. Peterson's paper before the Royal Society of Medicine in London on a "new appendix disease."
Several doctors called attention to the fact that the London surgeon's "appendiceal gastritis" was in reality discovered by Dr. Robert Abbey and Robert T. Morris of this city several years ago and was named by these two physicians "fibroid degeneration of the appendix." But all agreed that Dr. Peterson's paper was valuable in attracting attention to a phase of appendiceal trouble of which the general public is strangely ignorant.
"The appendix is one of the most talked of and little understood organs in the human body," returned one physician. "Few people know that persons over 50 years hardly ever have appendicitis. In 231 cases Dr. Hawkins, of St. Thomas' hospital, found, for example, that less than one per cent. of them were over 50 years of age. The reason that practically only people below middle life have appendicitis is that the appendix itself gradually degenerates with each year of a man's or woman's life."
"When the age of 50 is reached the appendix has in most cases ceased to be a sack. It is nothing but a string of whitish fibers. Since it is no longer a sack, small particles can no longer get into it to induce it and to cause 'appendicitis.' But this useless string of white fibers can cause trouble of another kind. It remains in the abdomen, surrounded by connective tissue, irritating and disturbing the nerve fibers 'back through the nerve fibers to the great nerve center behind the stomach,' which governs all the feelings and all the activities of the abdominal organs."
"From the nerve center of the solar plexus the irritation is passed on along other nerve filaments to the stomach and other organs. Thus we surgeons find that a large percentage of cases of dyspepsia and indigestion—especially in middle-aged and elderly people—are caused by nothing except the influence of the fibrous remains of the appendix. Because the real trouble has its seat in one part of the abdomen, while the actual pain is felt in quite another part of the abdomen, we call it a 'reflex disturbance.'"
"As all that the patient feels is just a pain in some faraway point in the system, we have considerable difficulty in diagnosing these 'reflex disturbances.' Often we operate for ulcer of the stomach, as the cable describes, and find that the stomach is perfectly normal. Then we have to make one of those quick operating room right about faces that we try to keep the public and even the patient and the patient's friends from knowing about. We follow along the whole gastrointestinal tract and try to trace the trouble to its seat, while the patient is still under the anesthetic. We find the supposed ulcer to be nothing but the white fiber string, which was once the appendix, many more times than you would think. About the only way to tell what the trouble is by a process of exclusion. We find that the stomach and gall and liver are all right, and we reason that the trouble must be somewhere else. An infinite deal of trouble is caused, on the other hand, by the public's trying first one doctor and then another in the hope that each may be able to 'hit' their case with something simple."
"On the other hand, operations are much less often performed in cases of trouble caused by fibrous degeneration of the appendix than in cases of regular appendicitis. We find that in many cases of trouble caused by fibrous degeneration of the appendix the nervous reflex in the other organs tends to disappear with time, as the appendiceal fiber itself gradually becomes obliterated. It also disappears under medical and hygienic treatment aimed at the nervous indigestion. When we do operate it is not because of future danger, but to relieve present discomfort. Indeed, many patients become much better as soon as they find that their pain is not due to anything more than a nervous reflex, like the fancied pain in a leg or arm after the leg or arm has been taken off."

Heart to Heart Talks.
By EDWIN A. NYE.

EDWARD PAYSON WESTON.
What would you think of a man who should deliberately start out at the age of seventy-two years to walk across this continent in ninety days? Crazy? No, certainly not, for he accomplished the task in only seventy-eight days. And this same courageous veteran had already walked across North America in the other direction in about 100 days.
The first trip was made through storms and bad weather and much difficulty. The old gentleman was not satisfied with the record, so he turned around at Los Angeles and started back to New York city.
How many men in the prime of life would be able to go forty-five miles a day for even a week?
But Edward Payson Weston, who performed the great feat, being interviewed, says:
"I had been forty-five instead of seventy-two I would have walked the 3,500 miles from Los Angeles to New York in sixty days instead of seventy-eight days."
There is little doubt of it.
No man can hope to live to the age of seventy-two, much less do great walking stunts, who dissipates his vitality by incorrect habits of life.
Late hours, the use of stimulants, debilitating indulgences—these take men off before they reach the Scriptural limit of three score and ten.
Correct living includes much besides abstinence from liquors. Many a man is violently intemperate in his eating or he may be intemperate in his indulgence of anger or of envy or of worry. Shakespeare said care killed a cat. He meant worry, anxiety.
Weston stands for moderation.
This grand old fellow governs not merely his physical appetites. He keeps a mind free from corroding fears and crippling hatreds. He enjoys to man's estate. His heart is free from guile.
Let us learn the lesson.
Let us put away not only the grosser appetites of the body, but also the degrading habits, the useless indulgences, the evil thoughts and feelings that shorten our lives.

NO SHAVE IN SEVENTY YEARS
New Jersey Man Figures It Out That by This Plan of Living He Has Saved $10,000.
Trenton, N. J.—Walter J. Ferry, a Yardville man, who is 90 years old, has not shaved since he was 20 years old, and although he occasionally gets his long white beard trimmed he says he has saved about $19,000 by leaving his whiskers grow, and double this amount in time. He is considered wealthy, although he engaged during his active career in conservative business enterprises.
He figures that the time he saved by not going to a barber enabled him to make a large sum of money, and he firmly believes that he would never have lived to be ninety if he had been addicted to the shaving habit.
Mr. Ferry enjoys good health, and his long, flowing beard makes him a conspicuous figure in his neighborhood.
In speaking of the money he saved by abstaining from shaves Mr. Ferry said: "I had no intention of putting any barber out of business, but I found that it was impossible for me to get shaved and save money. My beard has never troubled me, and when I realize how much I have profited by it I stroke it lovingly."

Drug Attracts Cats.
Altoona, Pa.—In an effort to coax back his wife's pet cat, Dr. O. H. McGarra spread valerian over the back yard the other evening. In less than ten minutes pot pussy was nestling in its mistress' lap. But there were other consequences not counted upon, for almost every cat in the ward was attracted by the fumes of the drug and soon the back yard was full of missiles of all sorts thrown by the enraged neighbors.

Motors Outnumber Horses.
London.—"There are now twice as many mechanical as horse vehicles in London," said Sir John Macdonald, lord justice clerk of Scotland, at the anniversary dinner of the members of the Royal Automobile club, who took part in the thousand miles motor trials in 1900 at Northampton.

Doctor's Opportunity.
"And what," asked the anxious parent, "would you advise in my daughter's case?" "She must stop all piano practise at once," said the physician, firmly. This seems a strange cure for a cold, but it must be remembered that the doctor lived in the next flat—Cleveland Leader.

Dead Man to Share in Estate.
Pittsfield, Mass.—Franklin Allen Smith of Fort Wayne, Ind., previously pronounced legally dead by the probate court of Central Berkshire, was restored to legal life by that tribunal and declared entitled to receive a bequest of $2,000 from the estate of his father, Hiram A. Smith of Williamstown. Smith left Williamstown nearly 30 years ago, and nothing was heard from him until a few weeks ago, when he appeared here and claimed a share in his father's estate.

"How much?" casually inquired the legal one.
"Twenty-five thousand dollars," proclaimed the client.
"The lawyer put out his hand. 'Shake hands!' he said. 'You have the best case I ever heard of. I'll see that you never go to jail with that sum!'"
And he did.
"The client there went 'broke.'"

Money Saved Is Money Earned
You earn money every time you make your purchases at this store, because we buy our merchandise upon a different basis from most merchants. Our many lines of samples are bought at a reduction of a third and a half from regular prices and are sold correspondingly low. That they are samples believe is an advantage, because sample garments made to show to the merchants throughout the country are more liable to be better made than even the regular stock.
Come in, look over our line. We feel that your good judgment will urge you to buy. We mention only a few items each day. There are hundreds of other items equally as good as these!
SILK DRESS SKIRTS—For summer wear, black and colors, prices fully one-half less than usual. See them in the window. Prices range $4.50 to $10.00.
WHITE SHRUNK COTTON COATS—Excellent summer wraps, regularly sold at $4.00. Priced here at $2.00.
UMBRELLAS—We purchased a sample line that we are certain are worth fully one-half more than they are priced, if comparisons are made with the general run of umbrellas. Prices go 75c to $3.00. Fabrics, cotton and linen, and silk. Black and colors.
CHILDREN'S SAMPLE UMBRELLAS—19c up.

ROBERT J. O'BRIEN MARRIED WEDNESDAY

Former Janesville Young Men United member, married Miss Bernice Taylor of Barrington, Ill., on Wednesday morning at St. Anne's church, Barrington, Ill., the marriage of Robert J. O'Brien, formerly of this city, and Miss Bernice Taylor of Barrington, Ill. The wedding ceremony was performed by Rev. Fr. Donnelly of Barrington, assisted by Fr. Conway of Westchester. Miss Amy Abbott of this city, a brother of the groom, was best man. After a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien will be at home in Barrington. The groom is employed by the Northwestern road and until a few years ago made his home with his parents here.

LAST DAY TOMORROW
Tomorrow will mark the last day of one series of special inducements which this store has been featuring for the past 30 days. The great number of women who have taken advantage of our offers shows that they have been appreciated. Every item in this store is properly displayed and prices marked and a visit here will give a better line in our excellent values than anything we might say regarding them. The store is cool, Call tomorrow, T. P. Burns.

FANS WAIT THE BASEBALL GAMES

Commercial League Has Good Contests Scheduled For Saturday and Fourth of July.
Tomorrow afternoon at Athletic Park, the regular games of the Commercial League schedule will be played with the Parker Pen Company arrayed against the Rock River Wood-on Mills and the Lewis Knitting Company opposed to the Calorie Company. Monday afternoon those who wish to spend a safe and sane fourth, enjoy the exhibition of the national pastime and while away the hours until the Gazette's returns from the big flight back to come in, we'll have an opportunity at the same park where the league has scheduled a double header.

PATIENT STUBBORN; LIFE THE PENALTY

James Hill, Friendless Stanger Died at County Hospital—Would Not Submit to Operation.
James Hill, aged 65 years, a stranger, who applied for help at the city hall Tuesday night, died at the county hospital at 10 o'clock yesterday morning. He was afflicted with strabismic hemia and would not permit the surgeon to operate upon him, even when told that it was his only chance for life. So far as could be learned Hill had no friends or relatives hereabouts, and so he was buried in the county farm cemetery last evening.

New Incorporation: Articles of incorporation of the Upper Missouri Land Co. of Clinton, Wis., organized for the purpose of dealing in real estate and products in the county of Rowan, Montana, have been filed with the register of deeds. The capital is $25,000 and the incorporators are A. V. Peters, George M. Reeder and J. P. Kemmerer.
Fire on Riverside St.: The fire department responded to a call to the Eau Claire home, 288 Riverside street, shortly before six o'clock this morning. Mrs. Joseph Eau Claire had started out to generate two burners of a gasoline stove and after filling the cups, lighted one and neglected the other. The first burner attended to the oversight. No injury or damage were done though Mrs. Eau Claire was badly frightened.

Wisconsin's Governors

JAMES TAYLOR LEWIS—1864-1866.

James Taylor Lewis was born at Chardon, N. Y., Oct. 20, 1810. He studied law and after being admitted to the bar started west, finally locating at Columbus, Wis., in 1845. He served successively as district attorney, county judge, member of the state constitutional convention in 1847, court commissioner, member of the lower house of the legislature in 1852, upper house in 1853, lieutenant governor from 1854 to 1856, secretary of state from 1862 to 1864 and governor from 1864 to 1866. He also served as colonel of the Fourteenth Wisconsin Infantry, brigadier general of the Wisconsin militia and vice president of the Wisconsin State Historical society. He declined a renomination for governor and also appointment to several federal positions. In 1870 he was a delegate to the national Republican convention and in 1882-83 made a trip around the world. He died at his home in Columbus Aug. 4, 1904.

LICENSES REFUSED THREE IN EDGERTON

Tobacco City Will Have But Six Saloons This Year—Druggists' Permits Also Refused.
(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Edgerton, July 1.—At a special meeting of the common council last night three applications for saloon licenses were turned down, thus for the present year Edgerton will have but six saloons instead of ten, all on Front street. The Carlton hotel is among the number turned down. Applications for druggists' permits from the two local dealers were also refused.

William Barrett, who for the past seven years has conducted a saloon on Henry street, today moved on Front street, having bought out Andrew Erickson.

Rev. R. W. Roberts, pastor of the Congregational church here, has received the appointment of non-resident member of the University of Wisconsin staff. The work will be under the extension division of the university and his subject will be that of astronomy. The appointment takes effect July 1, but it is possible that Rev. Roberts will not be called upon until the coming fall and winter.

Tennis Players Deafen.
The Whitewater Tennis club defeated the tennis club of this city yesterday at Whitewater, winning three sets out of five.

Wm. Cox of Indian Ford paid $10.50 including costs, to Justice North for drunkenness on Wednesday.

Fred Kepp, a saloon-keeper here for the past year, has moved to Sault City, where he will conduct a hotel and saloon.

R. J. Maltress was in Janesville yesterday closing a land deal.

Dr. McChesney spent Thursday night in Janesville.

H. R. McElhin is visiting his mother in this city today.

L. H. Towne will spend Sunday and Monday at his cottage on the river near Newville.

W. B. Wentworth returned last night from an extended trip through Montana. He reports crops in very good condition and found ready sale for several sections of land.

SPARKS FROM A CHIMNEY SET FIRE TO THE HOUSE

Home of J. E. Eddy Escaped Destruction Only Through Prompt and Energetic Work.
(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Afton, July 1.—Sparks from the chimney catching in the roof set fire to the residence of J. E. Eddy last Saturday and only prompt and heroic work on the part of the family and neighbors saved the house from being destroyed.

There will be the usual morning services at the Baptist church next Sunday, Pastor Cold planning to run up from Chicago to preach a patriotic sermon and later preside at the observance of the Lord's supper. Sunday school will convene at 10:30, followed by the other services. After spending the Fourth here, Mr. Cold will return to Chicago to resume his studies at the university.

The latest deal in Afton property is the purchase, by William H. Kendig, of the Fred Baskin house and lots near the creek. The place is at present occupied by Mrs. Lucy Milford and Mr. Kendig will not take possession until fall.

Mrs. W. J. Miller and daughter, Maude, of Crookston, Minn., are visiting relatives and friends in Afton and vicinity.

Mrs. C. J. Eddy of Rockton, Ill., is the guest of her sister, Mrs. C. F. Walte.

Mrs. Harry McCrea and daughter, Dorothy, left last Monday morning for their home in Sheridan, Wyoming, after a few weeks visit with Wisconsin relatives. Mrs. Nellie McCrea accompanied them for a sojourn in the west.

Orlo Griffin is here from Calgary, Alberta, having been called home by the serious illness of his father, Charles H. Griffin.

George L. Trent and daughter, Alice, of Alexandria, Minn., are the guests of relatives here. Mr. Trent was an old Afton boy who went west thirty years ago and has been a successful practicing attorney in his home city, having been for many years a law partner of United States Senator Knute Nelson.

George C. Otis and E. G. White have relinquished their positions in behalf of Herman Hammel who has just begun working at the Fairbanks-Morse plant.

Charles H. Griffin underwent a second operation at the Janesville hospital last Wednesday and, at latest report, was doing nicely.

No Doubt About It.
"Epistemologically," says a German critic, "pragmatism is nominalism; psychologically, voluntarism; metaphysically, agnosticism; ethically, meliorism on the basis of the Bentham-Mill utilitarianism." It is so simple the great wonder is that nobody thought of it before.

Johnny's Disappointment.
Sulides in the New York parks are of such common occurrence that the small children with their noses grow to look for them. "What do you think?" a lot of a girl said to her mother, coming home from her park outing. "Johnny heard a shot, but he couldn't find the body anywhere."—Exchange.

Benedict Arnold's Last Wish.
A New York public school teacher recently asked a pupil in her United States history class to describe the death and repentance of Benedict Arnold. She was somewhat astonished when the child, in whose mind American, British, Union and Confederate soldiers were pretty well mixed, replied: "He begged to be allowed to die in a Union suit."

LUCIUS FAIRCHILD—1866-1872.

Lucius Fairchild was born at Franklin Mills (now Kent), O., Dec. 27, 1831. In 1849 he came with his parents to Madison and three years later joined the exodus of gold hunters to California. He returned to Madison six years later with a small fortune. In 1858 he was elected clerk of the circuit court for Dane county and two years later was admitted to the bar. In 1861 he enlisted in the First Wisconsin volunteers and went out as captain of Company K of that regiment. At the battle of Gettysburg, while commanding the famous "Iron Brigade" regiment, he lost one of his arms. While at home recuperating he was elected secretary of state and at the end of his two year term was elected Republican governor, which office he held three successive terms. In 1872 he was appointed consul at Liverpool, England, and five years later was transferred to Paris as consul general. After three years at the Paris post he was appointed minister at the court of Spain, where he spent two years. He died at his home in Madison May 23, 1890.

—1872-1874.

Livermore, Me., April 22, 1874. In 1874 he was admitted to the bar. During his term as governor he was elected a member of the Maine legislature and served with two of the Washingtons of Maine. He served through the war. In 1880 he was elected Republican governor. He established the Wash-

MANY STUDENTS CHOOSING COURSE IN JOURNALISM. A Newspaper Laboratory at the University of Wisconsin.

Madison, Wis.—In this age of specialization many young men are entering universities for the purpose of fitting themselves along lines which a generation ago were not in the college curriculum. One of the new courses recently added by some of the large universities and from one foreign country—this trains men to become specialists in newspaper work. Among the institutions which were first to recognize this as a special course was the University of Wisconsin. The interest has grown in this work to such an extent that today students from 21 states and from one foreign country—this trains men to become specialists in newspaper work.

PLANS TO TAKE CARE OF OLD BASEBALL PLAYERS. Adrian C. (Cap.) Mason, at right, who inspired the plan, and Dan Johnson, President of the American League, who is trying to consummate the scheme.

In brief it is this: That once each year each club in the American and National leagues designate some game in its schedule, the gross receipts of which are to be turned into a fund for the relief of ex-ball players and other followers of the game who are in straitened circumstances, the game to be advertised as a benefit, thus increasing the receipts. The funds are to be administered by the National commission. Each case is to be investigated as to its merits. All cases are to be attended to individually instead of establishing a players' home, the tentative scheme being to send a monthly check to the beneficiary. The players of the team competing in the benefit games probably will be asked to contribute small sums, $3 to $5. President Johnson thought $50,000 a year could be raised by this means. He will bring it before the National commission.

FALLS FROM CLOUDS; IS KILLED.

Young Aeronaut's Parachute Falls to Open, He Plunges to Earth. Muncie, Ind., July 1.—While Ralph Bradley, aged twenty-four, a daring young aeronaut, was making a double parachute leap 2,000 feet above ground at Albany, Ind., the second parachute failed to open and Bradley plunged to the ground. He was dead when the searchers reached his side. His skull was fractured and many bones broken. Fifteen hundred people, who saw the accident, were thrown into a wild panic.

Several Buildings Destroyed and Number Persons Hurt at Boulder, Mont. Helena, Mont., July 1.—Six persons were killed, a number injured and several buildings destroyed as the result of a powder explosion in the store of the Graver Mercantile company at Boulder, 35 miles south of Helena.

The explosion was caused by some person using the powder magazine back of the hardware store as a target. As a result there is not a pane of glass unbroken on Main street.

Zionists Meet in Pittsburgh. Pittsburgh, Pa., July 1.—More than 300 prominent Jews are assembled in this city, in attendance on the thirteenth annual convention of the Federation of American Zionists, which opened today. They have come from all parts of the country, and the convention is expected to prove one of the most important ever held by those who are working for the restoration of the Jews to Palestine.

Colonel F. H. C. Bowen to Be Tried. Manila, July 1.—Lieut. Gen. Ramsey D. Potts, commanding the department of Luzon, ordered a court-martial to try Col. F. H. C. Bowen of the Twelfth Infantry, stationed at Fort William McKinley. The charges are not specified and the base of them is not made public.

University Gets $500,000. Burlington, Vt., July 1.—It is announced that the pledge amounting to $500,000 for the endowment fund of the University of Vermont necessary to secure the $100,000 offered by the Rockefeller fund managers have been secured.

SUES KETCHAM OVER HIS WIFE. Oklahoma Wants $50,000 From Noted Horseman for Alienation. Toledo, O., July 1.—Suit for $50,000 was filed in United States court by Clifford H. Riggs of Oklahoma against George H. Ketcham of Toledo, former owner of Ceresco and a well-known theatrical and horseman.

The plaintiff's petition sets forth that "the defendant alienated the affections of the plaintiff's wife, who is now acting as Mr. Ketcham's stenographer."

Mr. Ketcham's attorney filed an answer denying all the charges.

Powder Explosion; Three Killed. Tacoma, Wash., July 1.—An explosion at the DuPont powder plant at DuPont, killed Thomas Baker, foreman, of Wenatchee, Wn.; George Brown of St. Paul, Minn.; and Edward Smith of New Orleans.

Ever brought to the attention of Janesville men are now presented. Any man who thinks he can match these values at any other store will be only fooling himself to the extent of $4.50 to $6.50. Your chance to spruce up for the Fourth.

Cool Shirts with soft collar; white, tan and mode, all sizes, $1.50 and $1.00.</

REDUCTION IN THE PRICE OF GAS

We beg to announce that all gas consumed after June 30, 1910, will be sold at the following rates:

First 2,000 cubic feet per month at $1.30 per thousand

Next 3,000 cubic feet per month at $1.15 per thousand

All in excess of 5,000 cubic feet per month at $1.00 per thousand 10c per thousand cubic feet to be added to the above rates if bills are not paid within ten days after the date of delivery. Minimum bill, 50c per month.

This Means a Reduction of 13% to 18% in the Price of Gas

OUR SERVICE to consumers will continue to be at its well known high standard. By the word "service" we mean that when you have an approved gas appliance installed you have the New Gas Light Company's guarantee that it will give the very best results. If anything be wrong, you have but to tell us and the matter is given immediate attention.

The heat of the summer is now here and as the average woman spends more time in the kitchen than in any other room, she should have a cool kitchen in summer if that be possible.

We want to remind you that with the gas range you can cook quicker and cheaper and better than in any other way, and that you have a clean, cool kitchen, no carrying of coal or ashes or cleaning up of dirt caused by a coal range.

A gas water heater attached to your kitchen boiler will give you hot water at any time of the day or night at little expense.

For light and industrial purposes you can use gas to excellent advantage and we want to help you.

Amalgam for Joints.

Amalgam, designed for making joints in plumbing and other lead work, is a very thin ribbon of easily fused metal that, having been treated with a composition to prevent oxidation, is placed between the surfaces to be joined, and on the application of heat melts and causes the other metals to amalgamate at a temperature below their normal melting point.
The process is adapted for joining brass and copper parts to lead pipe, unlike pieces of lead pipe, and many other purposes.

PREACH STRONG SERMONS

William Watt Meets All the Big Fight Celebrities Now on the Scene of the Coming Contest.

In today's letter, the great fight center of the universe William Watt writes of the ministers that were preached in the Reno churches last Sunday objecting to the coming battle.
He also talks of his meeting with all the big fight celebrities now in the Nevada city and the plans made for the preservation of order at the big arena and through the city while the vast hordes of enthusiastic fight followers are present.

Reno, Nevada, June 27.

Editor Gazette:

"With the battle of battles but a week away, the excitement in this city of Reno is increasing with every hour. It's the only topic worth discussing and it's the only topic that anybody cares to discuss.

conjunction with the sheriff and the chief of police. We have direct or-he will stand for no rough work on the part of the spectators.

Apparently, Johnson need have no fear of getting the worst of it from the crowd or from the referee. His color is not going to make any difference with them. The same applies to Jeffries though it is not quite so necessary to impress this upon the public. It is generally known that Jeffries will be the favorite because of the actual prejudice against the colored race.

This afternoon the local papers got out extra editions on the sermon that was preached in this city by the local Methodist minister. Admitting that it was impossible to stop the fight the Rev. L. M. Burwell took for his subject, "Reno's Dilemma." The divine held this city up to be a Godless wallow in the mire before the temple of Mammon, and the brutaliz-ing effect of the fight itself with all the anticipated consequences from the influx of a horde of "drift of humanity and the unbecoming of the country."

to 51 in 1905, took county averaging 9 to every thousand population. The actual number of divorces in Wisconsin has increased from 755 in 1887 to 1,158 per year in 1905. The records show that for the year ending Sept.
30, 1908, 1,476 divorces were granted in this state.

The C. A. Harper, secretary of the state board of health, today gave out figures showing by counties the number of divorces from Oct. 1, 1907, to Sept. 30, 1908. These statistics are the first of the kind ever gathered in Wisconsin.

PRETTY WEDDING
IN CUT-OFF CITYPretty Home Ceremony Held Wednesday For Miss Fessenden and Paul Ehrlinger of Augusta.

Evansville, June 30.—The marriage of Miss Grace Myrtle Fessenden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Fessenden of this city and Mr. Paul E.
Ehrlinger of Augusta, Wis., was celebrated at eight o'clock last evening at the home of the bride's parents on Gardfield avenue. The wedding was a very pretty one in every way. At the arrival of the nuptial hour a sextet composed of the Misses Fern Ball, Lola and Letta Ashton Besse Jenkins, Hazel Hankinson and Wilma Phillips entered the parlor singing the nuptial hymns from Lohengrin and carrying ropes entwined with bridal wreath, sweet peas and roses. The young ladies all in white gowns, the sweet strains of the wedding chorus and the garlands of flowers was a pretty scene as they formed an aisle through which the bride party passed as they took their places in a large window between a mass of ferns and flowers. The impressive ring service was performed by Rev. P. W. North and the bride was attended by her sister, Miss Maude Fessenden, as maid of honor and Mr. Fred Ehrlinger, brother of the groom, served as best man. The bride was prettily attired in a thin white gown with embroidery and lace trimmings, and wore in her hair a cluster of magnolia blossoms which was sent to her from California by her aunt, Mrs.
Ida Helle Sharrum Cottrell. She carried a beautiful shower bouquet of white roses and maidenhair ferns.
The maid of honor wore a dainty silk gown in soft shades of pink and yellow and carried pink roses. The wedding flower was the white daisy and with the lavish use of green was very dainty. After congratulations the guests repaired to the lawn which was illuminated with Japanese lanterns and when the bride and groom appeared they were met with rice.
A delicious two-course wedding supper was then served by the Misses Mada Stevens, Josephine and Jennie Crow to the guests, there being about sixty present. The bride is one of Evansville's best beloved and most talented young ladies. With the exception of the time spent at Whitewater Normal and the three years she has been a teacher, her whole life has been passed in Evansville and she will be greatly missed here by her many friends. Mr. and Mrs. Ehrlinger left on the midnight train for Augusta, Wis., where the groom has a farm and a cozy home. The happy couple will be at home to their friends after July 15th. They received many beautiful and costly gifts as remembrance of their friends in Evansville and elsewhere who join in wishing them prosperity and future happiness. The out of town guests were Mrs. M. J.
Fair of Kansas City, Mo.; Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Brown, Marlee Brown,
Mrs. D. Detmer, Maude Detmer, Harry Detmer, Mr. and Mrs. Will Ehrlinger, Miss Rachel Ehrlinger, Mrs. J. Millard, Miss Gertrude Hemingway, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Dehling,
Mrs. H. Gundell, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur
Winkel, George Hemingway and Mike Ehrlinger, all of Hanover; Ray V.
Fessenden, Madison; Mr. and Mrs. A.
Fessenden, Porters; Fred Ehrlinger, Edna Hemingway and C. H. Hemingway of Janesville.

ARENA WHERE JEFFRIES AND JOHNSON WILL FIGHT FOR THE WORLD'S CHAMPIONSHIP, JULY 4

when compared to this one. Hundreds of sports are daily making trips out to the training camps and the auto owners are reaping a harvest.

"Now that it has narrowed down to the last week everybody is talking about the location of either his ring side or gallery seat. Yesterday I visited the arena and the two seats looked to me to be nearly as high as the top of the Hayes block in Janesville. The arena will easily be completed four days in advance of the fight.

Yesterday most of the local ministers preached strong sermons against the holding of what they termed "the disgrace of the century." But in this wide open country the ministers are working against terrific odds.

This afternoon Jack Johnson was driven to town in his auto and at the Hotel Golden I was introduced to the big black by a Chicago newspaper man. When I informed Johnson that I had leased a rooming house in the business part of the city that would exclusively accommodate 200 colored gentlemen he beamed all over and said:

"That is an excellent idea. The colored men who will be here should number near the three thousand mark. Some are coming out from Chicago in their own Pullman cars
but the bulk of them will have no such luxury and all will have to have sleeping quarters for at least three nights."

While at the same hotel I met John L. Sullivan and when I told him that I had met him in Janesville, Wisconsin, he said:

"I was in Janesville five years ago.
It was then by the name of Connors with running that risk there. And by the way, I have a friend there in the person of Dave Watt whom I knew when he was with the Foreman's shows." He also remembered
Mr. Elford whom he met at the Hotel
Myers in Janesville. When I informed the mighty John that the said Watt was my father, he took me by the hand and insisted that I meet all the fight celebrities in the hotel and they were there by the score from all parts of the globe.

It is estimated that no less than one thousand outside automobiles will pull into Reno this week and from San Francisco alone forty machines left us one party today.
Where to put them is a puzzle.
Even at this early day people are getting their own prices for anything that the crowd will be obliged to have.

Captain Cox of the state police is now here with his uniformed men every one with a big six shooter in his belt. At the edge of the ring these men will be stationed.
"We will not stand for any calling of names at the fight," said Captain

THE TRUST BUSTER OF THE HOUSE—REPRESENTATIVE A. O. STANLEY OF KENTUCKY.

Washington, D. C.—Representative A. O. Stanley of Kentucky, who has become known as the trust smasher of the house, is now after the steel trust. The house last week passed his resolution directing the attorney general to say whether or not he has facts in his possession to prove that the United States Steel corporation is a combination in restraint of trade. But Mr. Stanley fears the attorney general may not reply to this session, with the explanation that the time allotted for answer was too short. He expects to introduce a new resolution, offering certain proofs.

Mr. Stanley some years ago made a speech against the American Tobacco company and demanded prosecution under the Sherman anti-trust law, which was subsequently begun by the attorney general. In the government brief in that case the indictments in Mr. Stanley's house speech were used in full.

Therefore, the house is inclined to believe that he has equally reliable data in the case of the United States Steel corporation and what he alleges are its allied organizations—the Federal Steel company, the American Bridge company, the Carnegie Steel company of Pa.

His resolution provides for the election by the house of a committee of seven to investigate the steel trust. The resolution provides that four of those representatives are to be members of the majority party and three of the minority party and that a sufficient appropriation be made for the committee to permit them to inquire fully into the origin, practices and financial constitution of the United States Steel corporation. To this committee Mr. Stanley, who has been long in the matter for weeks, proposes to give all his data. In a speech in the house before the adjournment of this session he plans to outline his information about the steel trust. Should the attorney general reply to Mr. Stanley's original resolution before adjournment the Kentucky representative has two other plans. If Mr. Wickelsham responds that a detailed statement would be incompatible with the public safety, Mr. Stanley will offer his data to the committee which his new resolution would create. Should the attorney general reply that he has facts to prove the corporation a combination in restraint of trade and is preparing to proceed against it in the courts Mr. Stanley says he will give his information to the department and waive his call for a congressional inquiry.

"But the steel trust is going to be dissolved," he said, "whether the reply or lack of reply from the attorney general. It is, I think, the simplest road to the country to break up, although it has a capitalization of $1,400,000,000 and its representatives are powerful in public life. The facts I have gathered alone would make it unamenable to the Sherman law. I do not expect that either the investigating committee or any other means will be created for an inquiry during this session, but so far as I can cooperate with a majority of the house, the next session of congress cannot end without some action against the corporation."

Mr. Stanley is confident that he can convince the house that an investigation is imperative; but if both his plans fail, he declares, he will take the floor and give in detail the facts he claims to have gathered to prove the United States Steel corporation is a trust. Then, he says, the department of justice will be forced to investigate, and from that investigation, Mr. Stanley says, court proceedings will come.

Leisure Essential.

Treas, fields, forests, rivers, breezes and the like, must all be enjoyed at leisure, if at all. There is not the slightest use in a man's paying a hurried visit to the country. He may as well go there blindfolded as go in a hurry. He will never see the country. He will have a perception, no doubt, of birds, rocks and grass, of green lanes and silent cottages, perhaps of great hills and rocks, of various items which go toward making the country; but the country itself he will never see.—Country Person.

Old Table Utensils.

The custer, or custer stand, goes back to the sixteenth century, and the finger bowl dates back still farther.

MISSOURI TO OUST BIG PACKERS
J. Ogden Armour of Armour Packing Company, Louis F. Swift of Swift Co.

Jefferson City, Mo.—Returns on the suits to revoke the charters of the big packers, including the St. Louis Dressing and Provision company, Armour Packing company, Swift & Co., and Nelson Morris & Co., are due June 30. The suits were started by Attorney General Elliott W. Major, and is the result of hearings held in St. Louis last April. If the contentions of Attorney General Major are upheld and returns are made in accordance with his wishes, the companies will not only be deprived of the privilege of doing business in the state of Missouri, but their property will be confiscated.

One Foot at a Time.

"Some people have a funny way of teaching themselves roller skating," said the manager of a rink. "They learn one foot at a time. With a skate on the right foot they keep themselves up with the left foot until the right learns the movement, then the left foot is trained in the same way. By all the laws of physics and human nature the skater who teaches himself piecemeal ought to get some tremendous bumps when he starts out on both feet, but somehow the training is efficient and he skates away without accidents."

Adornment.

To adorn ourselves seems to be a part of our nature, and this desire seems to be everywhere and in everything. I have sometimes thought that the desire for beauty covers the earth with flowers, paints the wings of moths, tints the chamber of the shell and gives the bird its plumage and its song. O, daughters and wives, if you would be loved, adorn yourselves; if you would be adored, be beautiful.—Robert G. Ingersoll.

Man's Duty to His Profession.

Robert Burns 10c Cigar

Not merely a light cigar—but mild, too—mild all through. The same gentle flavor—the same delightful quality in the filler as well as the wrapper. Made of tobacco mild by nature; not harvested green, and barbed, for the sake of color, but ripened in the fields and cured in the warehouse before it reaches the maker's bench. There isn't a sore throat, or a heart-start in a lifetime's supply.

Little Bobbie 5c Cigar

Is half the size and half the price. Leaf and labor alike. Simply reduced in length and cost to give you a really good and a really mild smoke for a nickel. The Robert Burns when you've plenty of leisure, and Little Bobbie when your time is limited. The same stores sell both.

CHAPTER VII.

The Hour of Vengeance.

For perhaps 20 seconds after the last echoes of the gun had rolled through the forest the girl lay passive in Nathaniel's arms, so close that he could feel her heart beating against his own and her breath sweeping his face. Then there came a pressure against his breast, a gentle resistance of Marion's half-conscious form, and when she had awakened from her partial swoon he was holding her in the crook of his arm. It had all passed quickly, the girl had passed against him only so long as he might have held a dozen breaths and yet there had been all of a lifetime in it for Nathaniel Plum, a cycle of joy that he knew would remain with him forever. But there was something bitter-sweet in the thought that she was conscious of what he had done, something of humiliation as well as gladness, and still not enough of the first to make him regret that he had kissed her, that he had kissed her mouth and her eyes. He loved her, and he was glad that in those passing moments he had betrayed himself. For the first time he noticed that her face was scratched and that the sleeves of her thin waist were torn to shreds; and as she drew away from him, standing herself with a hand on his arm, his lips were parched with words, and yet he leaned to her eagerly, everything that he would have said burning in the love of his eyes. Still irresolute in her faintness the girl smiled at him, and in that smile there was gentle accusation, the sweetness of forgiveness, and measureless gratitude, and it was yet light enough for him to see that with those three had come also a flash into her cheeks and a dazzling glow into her eyes.

"Nell has escaped!" she breathed. "And you—"

"I was going back to you, Marion!" He spoke the words hardly above a whisper. The beautiful eyes so close to him drew his secret from him before he had thought. "I am going to take you from the island!"

With his words there came again that sound of a great gun rolling from the direction of St. James. With a frightened cry the girl staggered to her feet, and as she stood away from him, her arms half-reached to him, Nathaniel saw only mortal dread in the whiteness of her face.

"Why didn't you go? Why didn't you go with Nell?" she moaned. Her breath was coming in sobbing excitement. "Your ship is at St. James!"

"Yes, my ship is at St. James, Marion!" His voice was tremulous with triumph, with gladness, with a tenderness which he could not control. He put an arm half round her waist to support her trembling form and to his joy she did not move away from him. His hand was buried in the richness of her loose hair. He bent until his lips touched her silken tresses. "Nell has told me everything—about you," he added softly. "My ship is bombarding St. James, and I am going to take you from the island!"

Not until then did Marion free herself from his arm and then so gently that when she stood facing him he felt no reproach. No longer did shame send a flush into his face. He had spoken his love, though not in words, and he knew that the girl understood him. It did not occur to him in those moments that he had known this girl for only a few hours, that until now a word had never passed between them. He was conscious only that he had loved her from the time he saw her through the king's window, that he had risked his life for her, and that she knew why he had leaped into the arena at the whipping-post.

The words she spoke now came like a dash of cold water in his face. "Your ship is not bombarding St. James, Captain Plum!" she exclaimed. Darkness hid the terror in her face, but he could hear the tremble of it in her voice. "The Typhoon has been captured by the Mormons and those guns are—guns of triumph—and not—"

She caught her breath in a convulsive sob. "I want you to go—I want you to go—with Nell!" she pleaded.

"So Casey is taken?"

He spoke slowly, as if he had not heard her last words. For a moment he stood silent, and as silently the girl stood and watched him. She guessed the despair that was raging in his heart, but when he spoke to her she could detect none of it in his voice.

"Casey is a fool," he said, unconsciously repeating Obadiah's words. "Marion, will you come with me? Will you leave the island—and join your brother?"

The hope that had risen in his heart was crushed as Marion drew farther away from him.

"You must go alone," she replied. With a powerful effort she steadied her voice. "Tell Nell that he has been condemned to death. Tell him—"

"Now—now you must go," whispered Marion again.

In this last moment Nathaniel crushed her hand again; his breast, his body throbbing with a wild tumult, and a half of what he had meant not to say fell passionately from his lips.

"Forgive me for—that—back—there—Marion," he whispered. "It was because I love you—love you—"

He freed her hand and stood back, choking the words that would have revealed his secret. He flung now for the love of this girl, "Nell is out there waiting for me in a small boat," he continued, pointing beyond Obadiah's to the lake. "I will see him soon, and then I will return to Obadiah's to tell you if he has left for the mainland. Will you promise to meet me there—tonight?"

"I will promise,"

"At midnight—"

"Yes, at 12 o'clock."

This time it was Marion who came to him. Her eyes shone like stars.

"And if you make Nell go to the mainland," she said softly, "when I meet you I will tell you—something."

The last word came in a breathless sob. As she slipped into the path that led to St. James she paused for a moment and called back, in a low voice: "Tell Nell that he must go for Winsome's sake. Tell him that her fate is shortly to be as cruel as mine—tell him that Winsome loves him, and that she will escape and come to him on the mainland. Tell him to go—go!"

Postcard Six Years on the Way. A Seldrick man has just obtained possession of a postcard which was posted by a party in Seldrick to a friend in Galusha, six miles distant, on January 6, 1904.

It was delivered at its destination quite recently, having taken more than six years to accomplish the journey of six miles, or at the rate of a mile a year. From indistinct postmarks on the card it is gathered that it has been in Africa and India at any rate, but judging from the tear and wear it must have made an even longer journey.—Westminster Gazette.

WOMAN ESCAPES OPERATION

Was Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Elwood, Ind.—"Your remedies have cured me and I have only taken six bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was sick three months and could not walk. I suffered all the time. The doctors said I could not get well without an operation, for I could hardly stand the pains in my sides, especially my right one, and down my right leg. I began to feel better when I had taken only one bottle of Compound, but kept on as I was afraid to stop too soon."—Mrs. S. M. MULLEN, 2728 N. B. St., Elwood, Ind.

Why will women take chances with an operation or drag out a sickly, half-hearted existence, missing three-fourths of the joy of living, when they can find health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has cured thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregular periods, indigestion, nervous prostration, and all the ills that women are liable to. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you. Write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be absolutely confidential, and the advice free.

that he might be compelled to play the game single-handed unless he could secure assistance from Obadiah. The ship and men were in the hands of the Mormons; Nell, in his search for the captured vessel, stood a large chance of missing him that night, and in that event Marion's fate would depend on him alone. If he could locate a small boat on the beach back of Obadiah's; if he could in some way lure Marion to it—He gave an involuntary shudder at the thought of using force upon the girl at his side, at the thought of her terror of those first few moments, her struggles, her broken confidence. She believed in him now. She believed that he loved her. She trusted him. The warm soft pressure of her hand as it clung to his arm in the blackening gloom of the forest was evidence of that trust. She looked into his face anxiously, inquiringly when they stopped to listen, like a child who was sure of a stronger spirit at her side. She held her breath when he held his, she listened when he listened, her feet fell with velvet stillness when he stepped with caution. Her confidence in him was like a beautiful dream to Nathaniel and he trembled when he pictured the destruction of it. After a little he reached over and as if by accident touched the hand that was lying on his arm; he dared more after a moment, and drew the warm little fingers into his great strong palm and held them there, his soul thrilled by their gentle submissiveness. And then in another breath there came to him his joy a thought of the terrible power that chained this girl to the Mormon king. He longed to speak words of encouragement to her, to instill hope in her bosom, to ask her to confide in him the secret of the shadow which hung over her, but the memory of what Nell had said to him held his lips closed.

They had walked in silence for many minutes when the girl stopped. "It is not very far now," she whispered. "You must go!"

"Only a little farther," he begged. She surrendered again, hesitatingly, and they went on, more slowly than before, until they came to where the path met the footway that led to Obadiah's.

"Now—now you must go," whispered Marion again.

In this last moment Nathaniel crushed her hand again; his breast, his body throbbing with a wild tumult, and a half of what he had meant not to say fell passionately from his lips.

"Forgive me for—that—back—there—Marion," he whispered. "It was because I love you—love you—"

He freed her hand and stood back, choking the words that would have revealed his secret. He flung now for the love of this girl, "Nell is out there waiting for me in a small boat," he continued, pointing beyond Obadiah's to the lake. "I will see him soon, and then I will return to Obadiah's to tell you if he has left for the mainland. Will you promise to meet me there—tonight?"

"I will promise,"

"At midnight—"

"Yes, at 12 o'clock."

This time it was Marion who came to him. Her eyes shone like stars.

"And if you make Nell go to the mainland," she said softly, "when I meet you I will tell you—something."

The last word came in a breathless sob. As she slipped into the path that led to St. James she paused for a moment and called back, in a low voice: "Tell Nell that he must go for Winsome's sake. Tell him that her fate is shortly to be as cruel as mine—tell him that Winsome loves him, and that she will escape and come to him on the mainland. Tell him to go—go!"

Postcard Six Years on the Way. A Seldrick man has just obtained possession of a postcard which was posted by a party in Seldrick to a friend in Galusha, six miles distant, on January 6, 1904.

It was delivered at its destination quite recently, having taken more than six years to accomplish the journey of six miles, or at the rate of a mile a year. From indistinct postmarks on the card it is gathered that it has been in Africa and India at any rate, but judging from the tear and wear it must have made an even longer journey.—Westminster Gazette.

Pictures of the Kingdom, Matt. xlii:31-33, 44-52.

Golden Text—The Kingdom of God is not meat and drink; but righteousness and peace, and joy in the Holy Ghost. Rom. xiv:17.

(1.) Verses 31-32—In how many particulars was the Christian church small at its beginning?

(2.) How many are there in the world today who profess to be Christians?

(3.) How many nominally Christian nations are there today?

(4.) What is the extent of the influence of Christianity today upon morality, education, science, philanthropy, commerce, etc.?

(5.) In what respects does the gospel influence each individual convert, the same as it has influenced the world?

(6.) Verses 33—What is the influence of heaven upon bread?

(7.) What is the influence of the grace of God, upon a human being who receives it?

(8.) What are the conditions to be observed for putting heaven into bread, and what are the conditions to be observed for putting the grace of God into a human heart?

(9.) This woman put the heaven into "three measures of meal." Can the grace of God be received at all, if it is not taken into the body, soul, and spirit? Why or why not?

(10.) Will the day ever come when the "whole" of humanity will be "leavened" with the gospel? If so, when and how?

(11.) Verse 34—What is the real treasure of the kingdom of heaven on earth?

(12.) What is the field in which lies buried this great treasure?

(13.) How do men find this hidden treasure?

(14.) Why does Jesus lead us to infer that we must sell all we have, in order to possess the field in which this rare treasure is found?

(15.) Verses 45-46—What does the average man seek after more than anything else?

(16.) What is it, when found, which gives more joy than all else besides?

(17.) When a man finds "the pearl of great price" how much is it worth to him?

(18.) What is the one great consideration which absorbs all others?

(19.) Verses 47-48—In what respect is preaching the gospel like fishing with a drag net?

(20.) Who are they whose duty it is to throw out, and pull in, the gospel net?

(21.) When according to this parable, are the good and the bad fish sorted?

(22.) Verses 49-50—What are the angels of God who at the end of the world, will divide the wicked from the good?

(23.) How much value will be given to a man, in that day, for his belief, in estimating his character?

(24.) What will be the standard for estimating good and bad men, at the end of the world? (This question may have to be answered in writing by members of the club.)

(25.) Are we to take Jesus' words literally, about the furnace of fire into which the wicked will be cast, or in what sense must they be taken?

(26.) Verses 51-52—Is Jesus a teacher who can be understood by any man with his ordinary natural faculties? Why?

Electric Smelting.

The success of electric smelting is indicated by its rapid adoption. A German authority counts up 114 electric furnaces that are at work making steel, and his list is incomplete, some important omissions having been pointed out. Of those enumerated 77 are arc furnaces, two generate heat by arc and resistance combined, and 37 are induction furnaces. There are also some pig iron smelting furnaces, Norway and Sweden have two or three. Of the steel furnaces seven are in America, but the great majority are in France and Germany. Most of the furnaces are of small capacity—one to five tons. They are employed chiefly on high-class steels, for special purposes, but a fair proportion are working on ordinary steels, such as structural steel, castings and railway ties, rails, etc.

HARVARD SCORES CLEAN SWEEP OVER YALE CREWS

Crimson Leads Old Eli Across the Line in All Three of the Contests.

New London, Conn., July 1.—The setting sun could not tinge the water of the Thames with a deeper crimson than they had been dyed by the victories of three Harvard crews. The victory of the Crimson in the big varsity race was not unexpected, although Yale for the last ten days had been rated more dangerous than it proved. The Eli's held on to the Crimson up to the last half mile. Then the superior physical power in the Cambridge boat settled the contest.

For three and a half miles the shells sped down the river almost abreast, first one and then another forging slightly ahead. Harvard was nearly a length ahead at the two-mile point and her bow showed in front for the greater part of the way, but time and again a gallant spurt brought the New Haven shell on even terms. Not until the boats entered the final quarter mile stretch did the Crimson look like a winner.

Then the strain told on Wallis, Yale's stroke, and when Harvard crossed the line Yale let up on her stroke and did not hasten her finish.

Harvard's victories were the most decisive that ever marked the opening of her annual rowing regatta with Yale. The Crimson freshman eight-oared crew beat the youngsters from New Haven by three lengths, and the Harvard varsity four bettered this performance a little later by rowing away from Yale in the last eighth mile of a surprising race and finishing four lengths in the lead.

A quartering downstream breeze that rose to eight knots an hour before the second race began cut down the time, and although both the winning crews were strong both races were slow.

PRINCE HENRY OFF FOR ARCTIC.

Kaiser's Brother Heads Expedition to Arrange for Flight to Pole.

Bremenhaven, July 1.—The preliminary expedition to observe conditions in view of Count Zeppelin's polar expedition in 1912 sailed from this port today on the North German Lloyd steamer Mainz. The members of the expedition, who, with their servants, total 24, include Prince Prince Henry of Prussia.

Henry of Prussia, brother of the kaiser; Count Zeppelin, Counselor Le-wald, who was commissioner from Germany to the world's fair at St. Louis; Professor Hergesell and Explorer Drigalski.

When the expedition arrives in Spitzbergen it will tranship to the Arctic steamer Phoenix. The first object of the expedition is to find a suitable headquarters for the Zeppelin dirigible expedition.

WIFE KILLS SELF AND BABY.

Woman Prefers Death to Possible Misfortune for the Child.

New York, July 1.—A pathetic letter filled with terms of endearment for her husband, but expressing a haunting dread of coming misfortune for their child because of the close blood relation of herself and husband, was found by George F. Catlett, a chemist, at the same time as he discovered the dead body of his wife and two-month-old girl, in their room at the Hivemeyer apartments.

On the floor of the bedroom, with her arm under the head of her baby, lay Mrs. Catlett. Near them was a partly empty glass containing cyanide of potassium. Mr. and Mrs. Catlett were first cousins.

CUMMINS CANCELS HIS DATES.

Senator is Ordered to Give Up Golf and Cigars Temporarily.

Des Moines, Ia., July 1.—Because of heart trouble, made worse by hard work during the recent session of congress, Senator A. B. Cummins has canceled his chautauque dates until August 14 upon the advice of physicians. The senator has been ordered to give up golf and cigars temporarily.

Mrs. Vanderbilt Makes Flight.

New York, July 1.—Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., made an aeroplane flight of 30 seconds at Mineola, seated alongside Clifford B. Harmon in his big Farman biplane.

Forest Fires Burn Station.

Calumet, Mich., July 1.—Forest fires destroyed the Copper Range railroad station at Elm River, Houghton county. Fires are raging all through the upper peninsula.

No Increase on Burlington.

Chicago, July 1.—A report that the Burlington road is contemplating an increase in the pay of its unorganized employees was emphatically denied by President Miller.

TWO 1910 PITCHING RECRUITS WHO HAVE CREATED SENSATIONS. At left, Pitcher Russell Ford, New York Americans. At right, Pitcher Hill Cole, Chicago Nationals.

To date there are just two pitching recruits who have created sensations in the major leagues this season. Hill Cole has done the burning up stunt in the National league, while American league writers give the great share of their praises to Russell Ford. Cole has won seven games for the Cubs and is still to be beaten. Ford won seven games in a row for the New York Americans and was an unbeaten pitcher until he struck Detroit on June 10. Then in a ten-inning battle he succumbed to George Mullin, although errors caused him to give the Tigers a chance to get the runs that made them winners.

Cole was drafted from Bay City of the Southern Michigan league by Chicago last fall. He has great speed, good control and a good curve ball. Ford is a spitball artist. He rolls mostly on the splitter for his effectiveness and there hasn't been a day this season that he has not been there with the goods. He was secured from Atlanta of the Southern league.

Followers of the two big leagues are watching this pair of likely recruits very closely these days. Either or both may show up the veteran hitters before the last day of the season comes around.

NEW BUDGET SENT IN: ASKS $1,000,000,000

Lloyd George, Despite Enormous Figures, Takes Optimistic View of Great Britain's Future.

London, July 1.—In introducing the budget of 1910-11 in the house of commons, Chancellor David Lloyd George had no novelties to offer.

He took an optimistic view of the future, despite the fact that he had to find the revenue to meet an estimated expenditure of within £1,000,000,000 of the £200,000,000 mark, or, to be exact, £198,930,000.

The chancellor figured a total revenue of £199,791,000, leaving a surplus of £801,000.

The total expenditures includes the deficit of £26,348,000 uncollected during the last fiscal year owing to the clash between the two houses, all of which has been collected since the budget was passed. For 1910-11 the chancellor estimated a revenue from taxation of £142,455,000 and from other sources £27,290,000. Adding to this the arrears due from the fiscal year 1909-10 he figured his total and surplus.

Chancellor Lloyd-George having retained all the features of the previous budget in the current budget, the Unionists will oppose every stage of its progress.

FEAR FOR GOULD'S DAUGHTER.

Bride of Anthony J. Drexel, Jr., to Submit to Ear Operation.

New York, July 1.—Much concern is expressed by friends of the George Gould family on account of reports from London that Mrs. Anthony Drexel, Jr., who prior to her marriage a few weeks ago was Miss Marjorie Gould, is suffering from an abscess in the ear which may necessitate a dangerous operation. George J. Gould has quietly but hurriedly slipped away to Europe following the receipt of dispatches from Mrs. Gould.

MEAT PACKERS IN DEMURRER.

Allege No Cause of Action in Missouri Ouster Proceedings.

Jefferson, Mo., July 1.—The meat packers whom Attorney General Major is seeking to oust from the state, filed demurrers, alleging no cause of action is shown in the petition. The case will be argued on the demurrers at the October term of the supreme court unless the attorney general demands the appointment of a commissioner to take testimony pending action on the demurrer.

Loses Eye Making Fireworks.

Bloomfield, N. J., July 1.—Frank Christian, 30 years old, tried to manufacture home-made fireworks in a shed in the rear of his home here. In an explosion which resulted, both his eyes were blown out and he was otherwise terribly burned. He will die.

Fire Almost Razes Town.

Wynona, Neb., July 1.—This town was almost wiped out by fire. A special train carried firemen from Nebraska, Neb., to assist in putting down the conflagration. The loss exceeds $200,000. No casualties are reported.

Cashier Shoots Marshal.

Thibodaux, La., July 1.—As the result of an old grudge, C. L. Pratt, cashier of the Bank of Kansas, at the town of Kansas, Okla., shot and probably fatally wounded Robert Terry, a former United States deputy marshal here.

Plenty of It.

There is always plenty of raw material near home for the man who wants to find fault.

Substitutes for Human Hair.

So great is the demand in Germany for human hair that many substitutes, chiefly vegetable fibers, have been introduced.

Bryan Arrives in Quebec.

Quebec, Que., July 1.—William J. Bryan arrived on the steamship Royal George from Bristol, England, accompanied by Mrs. Bryan. He appeared in the best of health. Mr. Bryan refused to discuss politics. Mr. and Mrs. Bryan left at once for Montreal.

Windows Shut; Girls Strike.

Decatur, Ind., July 1.—Sixty girls employed at the Waring Mitten factory went on strike because windows of their workroom had been nailed down by the management to keep them from looking out.

Each Requires Sustenance.

A house is no home unless it contains food and fire for the mind as well as for the body.—Margaret Fuller Ossoli.

The Day of the Elevator.

Every day there are twice as many people travelling vertically in New York in the elevators as are carried horizontally by the various transportation lines.

"Not Worth While."

Under the heading, "Not Worth While," a Paris paper prints this story from Piccolo of Trieste: At police headquarters a portmanteau was received last night with this note: "Please accept this from a disgraced man. Days ago I gained possession of it—how and where I need not tell—and felt confident because of its English make and the many evidences of travel which it bears that it was a rich find. See what it contains. Books—old books at that—old shoes, rolled linen of the cheap kind, and the stockings have holes in them. The forefinger and carried it to prison for theft for the satisfaction of having him identify his beggary belongings."

Elevator in St. Peter's.

An electric elevator has been installed in the stairway which leads to the cupola of St. Peter's church in Rome. The elevator has a capacity for carrying ten persons. It bears an appropriate Latin inscription.

La Preferencia Cigar

The Havana filler gives these cigars their rich aroma—and the blending is what makes them so mild. That's why they are preferred by the most critical smokers.

More smoked than any other 10 cent cigar.
